Photosynthesis: plants convert light energy into chemical energy.

Respiration: cells release energy from stored food molecules.

Osmosis: water moves through a selectively permeable membrane.

Diffusion: particles move from high concentration to low concentration.